Headline:
Dry Thursday with sunny spells. Haar retreating to Aberdeenshire coast.

This Evening and Tonight:
Low cloud and fog is likely to make its way inland this evening and overnight with a little drizzle. Staying dry with sunny or clear periods over western Aberdeenshire and much of Moray. Winds easing later in the night. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Thursday:
Staying dry with low cloud and fog burning back to the Aberdeenshire coast, then sunny spells in most areas. Warm inland but onshore breezes keeping the east coast cooler. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
A few showers possible otherwise lots of dry, bright weather and light winds. Brighter around the coast too with haar less of a problem.
